Family Arnold, Perthshire

Background. In 1885 the Stanton in Peak estate built The Cheese Factory at Gratton, to be run on a co-operative basis by the local dairy farmers. The building included a 2 bedroomed house for the manager and his family. The factory produced white Stilton until the Second World War when this became uneconomic. The Cheese Factory has now been converted into a home, with the Manager's House as a guest annexe.

Lettings. The Manager's House is let as self-catering holiday accommodation by the week(s). Short breaks may be available but usually not in high season. (Long lets may also be available.) The house is No smoking.

Description. The Manager's House is a substantial gritstone house with its own entrance and south-facing garden. It has a spacious country kitchen including an oil fired Stanley range and a dining table. There is a comfortable sitting room with a welcoming Clearview wood stove. Also on the ground floor are a utility room and a bathroom having a shower-bath, a wash basin and a toilet. Upstairs are two bedrooms both of a good size, one with a 6 foot double bed, the second with two single beds. Both rooms have views over the garden and fields to the hamlet of Dale End. Gratton is very picturesque with some excellent local walking and cycling and is close to the Limestone Way and the High Peak Trail. Gratton Dale is known for its wild flowers including orchids in season and nearby Long Dale is a National Nature Reserve. Chatsworth House and Haddon Hall are also nearby.

Services. Duvets, linen and towels. Oil fired Stanley range provides cooking, central heating and hot water. Electric oven, hob and microwave. Fridge-freezer, washing machine, tumble dryer, dishwasher, Satellite TV (FreeSat TV and radio), PVR box, DVD player, radio / cd player, WiFi Broadband. Electricity and oil included. Logs provided. Cot, high chair and stair gates by arrangement. Garage. External lighting. Garden furniture. Secure storage for bicycles. Barbecue. Children welcome. Pets by arrangement but downstairs only.

"....attention to detail to anticipate all our needs."
